Brief Particulars about the Event

With the rising upsurge in various wastes in our society from households to manufacturing wastes, during the present COVID pandemic there is a need of creative and innovative methodology to get rid of them. The 4Rs approach of reducing, recycling, reusing and recovering from the waste material can result in reduction of the extent of waste, save land and money in creating sustainable life. Everyday Wastes such as plastic, glasses, newspapers, household waste or electronic items are not only waste of limited resources but are also detrimental to the environment.
